Dark Horse Rumor Brings Out Mokena Vote

The Frankfort township election held Tuesday was very quiet, but a report that a dark horse candidate was coming out against Henry Yunker of Mokena, candidate for highway commissioner, caused a spirited move in Mokena, second precinct of Frankfort township, to get the vote out with the result that 296 votes were cast, while in Frankfort only 54 votes were cast and the dark horse report was a myth.

Henry Yunker was elected highway commissioner succeeding George Knudson whose term had expired and who was not a candidate for reelection. Mr. Knudson had been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the former commissioner, Emil Cappel.

Joseph Scott was elected school trustee. Both Mr. Yunker and Mr. Scott were virtually unopposed. Mr. Yunker held the office of highway commissioner about 25 years ago.

The library has been sponsored by the Orland Park Women's Club for a number of years and funds have been raised by having tag days, etc. but it is felt that this small special tax would provide adequate funds for the operation of the library and the citizens are urged to support this worthy measure.

REPORT INCREASE IN LOST AND STOLEN RATION BOOKS

R. J. White of the rationing board requests that everyone be extremely careful of their various ration books as there has been a great increase of lost and stolen books reported during the last 30 days. The great majority of the books lost and stolen seem to have occurred in Robbins. Undoubtedly the vast majority of these losses are legitimate. However, the board feels that they have very good reason to feel that in some cases the losses are not real but only fake losses to enable the applicant to acquire a second book and thereby get around the rationing.

This is not only an extremely unpatriotic thing to do, but also it carries a severe penitentiary sentence if the guilty person is caught and convicted.

In the future, all ration books lost or stolen must be reported to the ration board within 24 hours after loss with a notarized statement showing when, where, and how the ration book was lost.

No new ration books will be issued until these requirements have been fulfilled. They will then be issued only after a lapse of from 30 to 60 days depending on the type of ration book lost. In the future the ration board will be open Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 instead of Tuesday evenings as in the past.

DAIRY PRODUCTION COURSE IS BEING WELL ATTENDED

The Dairy Production Course held at Maue School Dist. 138 has been well attended with a total enrollment of 25 students.

Last Thursday evening with the aid of slide films from the Vocational Agricultural department of Joliet Township high school a discussion on Winter Feeding of Dairy Cattle was reviewed. Special emphasis was placed on the importance of legume hay as a roughage. Two members of the class Mr. Walter Lauffer and Mr. Glenn Schrader gave reports on feeding of corn silage as sole roughage in comparison to feeding it with legume hay. Both members deemed it inadvisable to feed silage alone as a roughage, lowered production and unthriftiness of the cattle were cited as examples of this practice.

University of Illinois experiments and practical experiences of class members resulted in selecting a good quality legume hay and silage as ideal roughage for dairy cattle. With this roughage a 15 percent grain mixture should be fed. Ground corn and oats balanced with one or several high quality protein concentrates makes a suitable grain mixture. In addition to this minerals may be necessary, especially if the hay is not of the very best quality. If these roughages are not available the grain mixture must be changed accordingly. More information on this can be obtained from University of Illinois Cir. 502.

With reference to the grinding of grain Mr. Norman Krumoodie stated that too fine grinding may result in a floury mixture making the grain impractical on the other hand it was pointed out by class members that too coarse grinding, especially of barley may result in a waste of feed.

A recent publication from the University of Illinois on prevention of scours in new born calves was read and discussed. It was pointed out that clinical observations have clearly shown that overfeeding is the most frequent cause of scours in new born calves. The common practice of leaving calves with the cow for 12 to 24 hours or longer after birth is likely to result in overfeeding. A safer practice is to allow the calf to nurse approximately 5 minutes at 5-6 hour intervals, or an average of 4 times in 24 hours. This plan is continued for 3-5 days when bucket feeding is begun.

MOKENA RED CROSS DRIVE NETS $509.07 CONTRIBUTIONS

The American Red Cross War Fund of Mokena says Thanks an awful lot! As we close our books on the drive for this year we are very happy to announce that the people of Mokena have been very generous in their contributions to the American Red Cross. Total receipts from this drive totaled $519.07 and a check for this amount has been sent to the County Chapter.

Our thanks to the workers in the districts and at the bank. Also to the Mokena State Bank for use of space for our booth.

MOKENA OCD SCRAP DRIVE BRINGS IN A TOTAL OF $5

Perhaps insufficient notice was given on the last pick up but we only realized $5.00 for our efforts.

This additional money will just cover the shortage which would have shown on our books had we been able to get the new equipment for the Fire Department without priorities.

We are hoping to receive priority that will permit us to buy a smoke mask, refill cartridges, helmet and portable light. This will clear our funds all received from the sale of scrap which has been donated. Previously we gave an electric plate to the school and supplied needed medical supplies to the Emergency Corps.

WILL COUNTY FACES SERIOUS SHORTAGE OF ALFALFA CROP

Professor J. C. Hackleman, Crop Extension Specialist at the University of Illinois conducted a survey this week throughout the State of Illinois on the situation in regard to winter killing of alfalfa, sweet clover, red clover and alsike. Facts as discovered by Prof. Hackleman indicate that there will be a serious shortage of our important hay and pasture crops this year.

Sections of Will County estimated that approximately 50 percent of the alfalfa would not be worth keeping. While it was still too early to definitely tell the condition of sweet clover, alsike and red, it appeared to be none too good. Prof. Hackleman recommended that all stands should be maintained this year and harvested for hay wherever possible. Even in fields where a part of the alfalfa has killed out, while other areas remain good, efforts should be made to reseed the killed out spots and retain that which is good.

In reseeding killed out spots, he suggested that disk be put on such spots as soon as possible and again every week or so until corn planting time, when a new seeding should be put in alone. If alfalfa has simply thinned out instead of killed out completely, Prof. Hackleman suggests working such stands with a rotary hoe and seeding with four or five pounds of timothy.

Farmers who have enough forage crops for their own use and anticipate plowing up alfalfa stands, should reconsider such action and plan wherever possible to maintain good stands of alfalfa for sale to others who will undoubtedly need it before the year is out. A similar situation faces our pasture crops.

Sweet clover stands should be retained wherever possible and where stands are not at all suitable to leave, plans should be made for seeding of sudan or sudan and soybeans a little later in season. Sudan seed stocks are scarce as are soybean seed stocks. Orders should be placed immediately for seed wherever it is to be needed later on. Sudan and soybeans are being recommended as an emergency crop. Prof. Hackleman recommends 1-2 bushels of soybeans to be seeded about corn planting time and when the beans are fairly well up a seeding of 10 lbs. of sudan, to be worked in with a rotary hoe.

New Bremen Tax Collector Former Frankfort Man

Walter Mancke of Tinley Park who has been appointed tax collector of Bremen Township to fill the unexpired term of the late Wm. Fleischhauer says he has not received the tax books and that it may be several weeks before these books will be ready for release by the county.

Mr. Mancke was born in Frankfort township in 1894 and has been a resident of Tinley Park for the past 20 years where he operates a barber shop.

He has been a member of the American Legion for the past 25 years and five years ago became a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has been a member of the Tinley Park Business Men's Association for 15 years.

In 1941 he sought the office of tax collector of Bremen Township and opposed Mr. Fleischhauer on the Progressive Ticket. At this election he was ahead with votes, but when a recount was demanded, his opponent was declared the victor by five votes.

NEW LENOX TOWN ELECTION HAS NO OPPOSITION

Editor and Mrs. Wm. Semmler and Mrs. N. F. Heiman returned last Thursday night from Rochester, Minnesota where they visited the Mayo Clinic.

Lack of Water Hampers 3 Fire Departments

Sparks from a chimney are presumed to have ignited a shingle roof on the former Wilbur Francis farm home west of New Lenox Monday morning, resulting in the destruction of the building by fire.

The property owned by John E. Francis was occupied by the Harold Gilkerson family. According to reports the blaze was discovered by a rural mail delivery man. The fire departments of New Lenox, East Joliet and Frankfort were summoned, but the fire had gained such rapid headway fanned by a strong breeze that the building was beyond saving. Lack of water, also made it difficult to do any fire fighting.

The contents of the down stairs rooms were saved, but all furniture, children's clothing, etc., in the upstairs rooms fell prey to the flames.

The loss is partially covered by insurance. The Gilkerson family moved into the old Francis home next door to the dwelling burned. The Gilkersons operate a dairy.

Homer Girl Pretty Spring Bride

Miss Jean Frazer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Frazer, was united in marriage with Mr. Henry A. Smith of Symerton, Saturday morning in the Marey church. Rev. Thos. Hagood performed the ceremony which was witnessed by the young couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frazer and Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Smith.

The bride was neatly attired in a dark blue suit with corresponding accessories. She wore a gardenia corsage. The bride and groom are both graduates of the Joliet Township high school.

EXCEED RED CROSS QUOTA

Orland Park has exceeded its quota of $500 for the Red Cross War Fund by a substantial amount, returns to date indicate that approximately $630.00 has already been collected and there are still several returns to be made which it is hoped will further increase this amount.

There are a number of patriotic men and women in the community whom the committee have not been able to contact and who no doubt want to contribute their share to this fund and an appeal to these is made to bring or send their donation to any member of the committee or to Mrs. S. Knox, General chairman. Make checks payable to the Red Cross War Fund. Every dollar donated now may be the means of bringing comfort and relief to some boy you know, and may be the deciding factor whether that boy is to come home safely to us.

So to those who have not already given—give freely and generously—send in your contribution. To those who feel that they can add to what they have already given, the committee will be glad to receive your additional contribution. Give to the limit of your ability, "the wounded can't wait."

TINLEY PARK RED CROSS WAR FUND NOTICE

VISITING IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Oscar Klose of Mokena is visiting in Chicago with her daughter Laurabell.

The Congressional Jokes:

It has been reported that House legislative leaders intend to pick a few nimble-witted Congressional sharpshooters, who would be in constant attendance during sessions—to make clay-pigeons of those who try to spread smears across the Congress. It's about time. We hope their rapier-retorts will help enliven proceedings. Congressional history is crowded with swift repartee-heeing. Like some petty humbugs today, a small-time politico was once trying to make a name for himself by picking on an important American—who happened to be a Senator. The human mosquito annoyed the Senator for months, who finally slapped him into oblivion with this story: "A skunk once challenged a lion to a fight. The lion declined. When the skunk asked loudly if he was afraid, the lion said: 'Very much so. For you would only gain fame by having the honor to fight with a lion, while everyone who met me for a month would know that I had been in company with a skunk!'"

A lawmaker with a sensayuma once told this about himself. He sent a constituent a Cong. Record with a note stating that the Government prints and distributes speeches made by Congressmen without the slightest profit. The voter returned the note with this flip addition: "They are also read the same way!"

Huey Long was called a demagogue after he concluded a teatime filibuster. Huey foamed at the mouth, daring his critic to define the word. Which his critic did. "A demagogue," he snapped, "is a man who can rock the boat himself and persuade everybody that there's a terrible storm at sea."

Here are some of the facts of life about Congress every citizen should know. . . . Before times got too serious for such levity, a group of legislators organized a "Demagogues' Club," which met daily in the House cloakroom. After a Representative made a particularly demagogic speech for home consumption, he was hailed into the cloakroom and compelled to make the speech he would like to have made. Then he was asked to repeat the club pledge: "Vote for all appropriations and against all taxes," and inducted into full membership. The badge was a safety pin, worn under the coat lapel. . . . Some fun, eh?

Then there's the one about the Congressman's wife who woke up in the middle of the night. "Jim," she whispered, "there's a robber in the house." Her sleep-begoggled hubby replied, "That's impossible. In the Senate, yes, but in the House, never."

This is one of the Congressional favorites. . . . House Speaker Tom Reed had a barbed-wire tongue. . . . One day one of the biggest bores in Congress got up, drooled out a lengthy diatribe and concluded by stating: "Mr. Speaker, I am like Henry Clay. I would rather be right than President!" Reed merely intoned: "Don't worry—you will never be either."

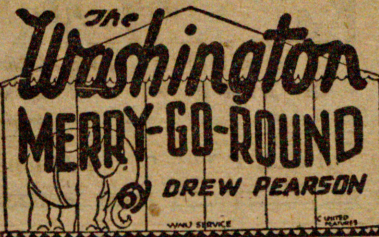

Rep. "Uncle Joe" Cannon loved to tell tall tales about his fishing. He once told a friend about a fish he caught. Trying to beat him to the punch, the chum asked: "About the size of a whale, wasn't it?" . . . But the Congressman wasn't stopped: "Heck, no," he replied, "I was baitin' with whales."

In 1914 the House of Representatives was evenly divided between both parties. The vote for House Speaker resulted in a tie. One independent Progressive could cast the deciding vote. That man was Cong. Thomas D. Schall, who was blind. He felt handicapped in not being able to judge rival candidates by seeing their faces. So he asked a newspaper man who had "an honest voice" for counsel. The reporter suggested that with a war going on the House Speaker should belong to the same party as the President. The blind Congressman took his suggestion—and Champ Clark became Speaker. In that position, Clark played one of the most vital roles in world affairs and turned the tide of history.

Contrary to popular belief, most Congressmen don't like to have the power of giving political jobs. Through bitter experience a Congressional maxim has evolved: "Every political appointment means one ingrate and a dozen enemies."

No column of legislative anecdotes would be complete without the classic about the tot who visited the House of Representatives with his father. The youngster pointed to a man standing on the dais and asked who he was. . . . The father explained he was the chaplain of the House. . . . "Does he pray for the members?" the child asked with logical reasoning.

The father informed: "No, my son. When he sees the members sitting there—he prays for the country!"

Washington, D. C.

PRESIDENT LISTENS

The President did the listening, instead of the talking, when he conferred on farm manpower and food with three prominent farm leaders—Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, H. E. Babcock, vice president of the National Council of Farmer Co-operatives, and Ezra T. Nelson, its executive secretary.

The farm spokesmen spent about 30 minutes of the 37-minute conference expounding their views on what caused the food shortage now facing the country and what has to be done to remedy it. The President confined his remarks chiefly to asking questions.

He began by telling his visitors that the food situation was "extremely serious."

"That's why I invited you gentlemen here today—to get your opinions on what has to be done," the President said. "Go ahead and be as frank as you like."

The farm leaders accepted the challenge. They charged the administration with "shortsightedness" in dealing with farm labor deferments and contended that government price policies also had contributed to the farm manpower shortage.

Local Draft Problem.

"If you want my views, I'll give them to you, Mr. President," spoke up Ezra Nelson. "Two things have to be done and done immediately. First of all, someone in authority here in Washington must tell these local draft boards where to head in."

"They must be told that they have almost as much responsibility to see to it that we have sufficient manpower to produce food for the war effort as they have to provide men for the fighting forces. Food is just as important as munitions in my opinion. We can't fight the war without it, and we can't let our civilians starve."

"A lot of these local draft boards still feel that they must fill their induction quotas," Nelson continued. "The boards have been assigned quotas, but they don't have to meet them, at least not in sections where there is a crying farm labor shortage. You, or someone else should tell them this."

The President pointed out that many young farmers don't want to be deferred.

"This isn't the fault of the draft boards," he said. "The young men themselves are so patriotic that they do not want to remain on the farm while a war is going on."

It was agreed that steps would have to be taken to convince selectees that they could serve their country as well on the farm as in the army. Goss suggested that one "way out" would be to induct farm hands and then "furlough" them back to the farm at prevailing farm wages, instead of army pay. This would require legislation, but the President said it was an idea worth considering.

Stop Selling Cows.

"The second thing that has to be done is for the government to step in and stop the widespread selling of dairy cows and other stock and farm equipment by farmers who are unable to continue in business at present farm price levels," Nelson continued.

"I'm as much opposed to inflation as you are, Mr. President," he added, "but we have got to make it possible for farmers to operate at a fair profit if we are to lick this threatened food shortage. They have got to be assured fair prices in order to pay wages that will keep their help from migrating to jobs in industry."

The co-operative official contended that farms had lost two-thirds of their manpower to war industries because of low farm wages.

The President said that he, too, was deeply concerned about this factor, suggested to his callers that they get together with Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and map out a program embracing their recommendations.

"Then come back and see me again," urged the President. "I want to continue these discussions."

CAPITAL CHAFF

The super-cabinet's careful consideration of how big our armed forces should be was actually a sham battle. FDR has the "old dutch up" over the size of the armed forces and wouldn't take anybody's say-so on this point, except the army's own plan, conceived way back in 1933. . . . The army in 1933 had no idea whether we would have the ships in 1943 to transport troops abroad, but is sticking to its original plan just the same. And FDR is 100 per cent behind it.

John McClintock, assistant co-ordinator of inter-American affairs, is off to the Amazon, to inspect food and health programs for rubber tappers.

When General Marshall turned down the rank of "Field Marshal" he also knocked over a carefully laid plan whereby Admiral King would become "Admiral of the Fleet" . . . To date only three men have won the title "Admiral of the Fleet"—Dewey, Farragut and Porter. . . . Tipoff on the proposal to make King Admiral of the Fleet was so he could outrank Admiral Leahy.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 9:2-8; II Peter 1:16-18.

GOLDEN TEXT—A voice came out of the cloud, saying: This is my beloved Son; hear him.—Mark 9:7.

Christ is God! The one who comes to know that truth is ready to follow Christ, and to make Him known to others. The want of such a true conception of the Son of God weakens our convictions and hinders our usefulness.

"Where there is no vision, the people perish," said the wise man (Prov. 29:18). For want of a true vision of Christ as God, and the God-given constraint which makes men give themselves in sacrificial service, the people perish in their sins.

Peter and John saw our Lord in His transfiguration, and the glow of that experience lighted their entire life and ministry. The touch of the supernatural was on these men and their message—for they had seen the glory of Christ.

I. The Amazing Glory of the Son (Mark 9:2-6).

The transfiguration of Christ is one of those wonderfully beautiful and deeply spiritual experiences which defy analysis or satisfactory description. Poetry and art have vainly tried to depict it only to become "in fact a confession of the impotence of the loftiest art to rise to the level of the divine" (Van Dyke).

Peter was so dazzled that he could only suggest that they remain there, forgetting for the moment that down in the valley was demon-ridden humanity waiting for the divine deliverance of the Son of God (see Luke 9:37-42).

What took place on the mount can possibly best be explained as the outshining of the inner glory of the Christ. He had laid aside His glory when He became flesh, but not His divine attributes as very God. There in the presence of God and the heavenly visitors that glory shone through His humanity and His appearance became dazzling in its whiteness.

II. The Approving Word of the Father (Mark 9:7, 8).

A cloud, like the cloud which filled the Temple of old (I Kings 8:10, 11), covered them, and the Father spoke out of it words of approval of His Son.

These words carry "both judgment and command; judgment concerning Jesus, 'This is my beloved Son,' and command to the disciples, 'Hear ye him'—that is, 'Listen to him'" (Lesson Commentary).

John and Peter came to a fuller conviction that He was the Son of God as they saw Him transfigured and heard the words of the Father. They learned more plainly the fact that He was God manifest in the flesh for the redemption of man. They saw in the indescribable beauty of that moment a foregleam of His coming glory. What important truths—His deity, His redemption, His coming kingdom. Have we learned them as we have beheld His glory?

III. The Assured Faith of the Disciples (II Pet. 1:16-18).

These words were written by Peter when he was nearly eighty years of age—about thirty-five years after the transfiguration. John wrote sixty years after the event and said, "We beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father" (John 1:14).

The one who follows these eye-witnesses in believing in Christ may share their assurance expressed by Peter that we do not "follow cunningly devised fables" in making known to the world the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Our faith is built on God's Word, and upon such testimony as this by eye-witnesses. Here is real ground for assured belief in Christ.

Great experiences of spiritual renewing and power lead to effective life and testimony for Christ. They may not be in outward manifestations, in fact they are most often in the inner recesses of man's soul; but they do transform men and send them forth to magnificent living for God. One wonders if much of the dearth of power in the Christian Church is not to be attributed directly to the lack of such experiences with God.

The disciples had an unforgettable mountain-top experience. Even so have many others found the secret of power. It came to D. L. Moody as he walked down a New York street, praying in agony, "Deliver me from myself. Take absolute sway." The story of what happened to him and through him as a surrendered instrument in God's hand is written large on the pages of history. Others have had similar experiences.

Let us remember that such privileges are not reserved for a few; they are the birthright of every Christian. Power without knowledge is a dangerous and destructive thing, but knowledge without power is a dead thing, resulting in a stale and unfruitful orthodoxy that in turn produces a dreadful and unchristian religious system.

Time to Check and Recondition TractorPoints for Checkup
Routine Are Listed

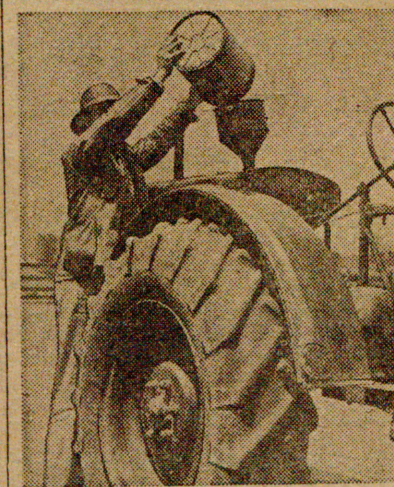

If you want to save yourself some exasperating moments in the field this spring—and make your tractor last longer, too—W. C. Krueger, extension agricultural engineer at Rutgers university, suggests you thoroughly check and recondition the tractor now.

"It doesn't make any difference whether a tractor has been in storage all winter or whether it has been in occasional use—it still needs a general reconditioning," Krueger says. And he lists some of the points of the check-up routine as follows:

If battery equipped, make sure unit is fully charged and that all connections are tight and that the battery is firmly supported and braced.

Take out spark plugs, clean and re-gap and replace those with appreciably worn terminals.

Oil magneto, wipe out distributor cap and flush impulse coupling with kerosene, lubricate.

Perry Thompson, Indiana farmer, gives hungry tractor a feed of precious gasoline and gets going.

Flush the water cooling system thoroughly and fill with clean rain water preferably. Tighten all connections and replace worn or gummy hose.

Thoroughly clean oil filter or install new element.

Thoroughly clean air filter according to instructions; change oil in oil bath type.

Check and flush entire oiling system by first pouring a mixture of gasoline and light lubricating oil, half and half, into each cylinder through the spark plug hole and crank the engine until the mixture has been forced out of the holes. This washes old oil from cylinders, valves and pistons and helps loosen piston rings. Use the same mixture for flushing the valve operating mechanism under the valve housing cover. Flush the crank case with kerosene, drain and refill with proper grade oil. Drain gear box and crank case and refill with specified grade of lubricant. Thoroughly grease and oil all points as specified in the lubrication chart.

Start the engine and operate slowly, watching for any unusual conditions. Sticking valves can be loosened with kerosene applied to the valve stem.

Pasteurize the Cream
To Keep Butter Sweet

Many farm people, making butter for home use for the first time in many years, are anxious to learn how to keep butter from developing a rancid flavor. According to Forrest C. Button, professor of dairy manufactures, Rutgers university, the answer to this question is pasteurization of the cream.

"The heat of pasteurization makes inactive the raw cream enzyme, which causes deterioration of the fat," Professor Button explains.

"Pasteurization is a simple procedure: Just put the cream into a can or pail; place this container in a large kettle, boiler or other suitable container partly filled with water; place this on the stove and bring the cream to a temperature of 145 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes. A shorter method is to heat the cream to 165 to 170 degrees for 10 or 15 minutes, but the 30-minute method is the standard procedure. The cream should be stirred while being heated."

When the pasteurization process is completed, Professor Button says that the cream should be cooled to 50 degrees Fahrenheit or lower and held at this temperature for at least three hours before churning in order to insure firm butter granules.

The Vanishing American

The farm laborer, today's vanishing American, has disappeared down one of two separate channels—the armed forces and industry. A high percentage of the skilled specialists who operate the mechanical gadgets of both army and navy have been from farms. Equipped with the rugged physique that comes from long hours of hard work in the open farm boys have been gratefully accepted by all the armed forces and are serving their country well.

FORCE OF HABIT

A batch of German prisoners had just arrived in England and were being marched to the internment camp.

Round a bend on the canal nearby a barge came slowly into view. The barge cracked his whip to warn the lockkeeper of his coming.

Immediately the prisoners broke ranks and ran in all directions.

"Hey!" roared the camp commandant.

"S'alright, sir," said a Tommy. "They've been eating so much horse-flesh lately that every time they hear the crack of a whip they break into a gallop."

Nary a Hope

Things were dull in the camp, and the lads were discussing just any subject that came up to pass the time.

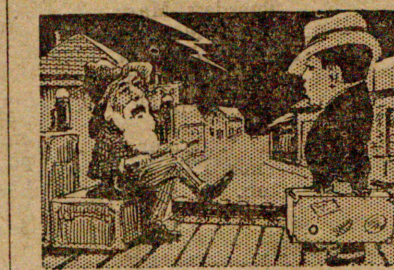

Bill, who was a firm believer in reincarnation, was thrusting his views down the throat of his hated corporal.

"Yes," he insisted, "when we die we always return as something else."

"You mean, for instance," cut in the corporal, "that I might come back as a worm?"

"Not a chance, son!" grinned Bill. "You're never the same thing twice!"

IN A FLASH

"Is this village lighted by electricity?"

"Only when there's a thunder storm."

Silly Story

"My friends say it's queer that I'm so fond of pancakes," a young woman told the psychiatrist, "so they sent me to you."

"Well, that's not so odd," he replied. "I'm very fond of them myself."

"Are you?" she exclaimed happily. "Well, you must come over some day. I have seven trunks full."

Firm Rebuke

A visitor at the capitol was accompanied by his small son. The little boy watched from the gallery when the house came to order.

"Why did the minister pray for all those men, Pop?"

"He didn't. He looked them over and prayed for the country."

Second Hand

"Do you think we'll have a warm summer this year?" asked the new visitor to the resort.

"If the management has anything to do with it," replied the guest, grimly, "it'll be last summer warmed up!"

Year 3000 A. D.

"Mother, do you think father knows Harry is going to call for me in his airplane?"

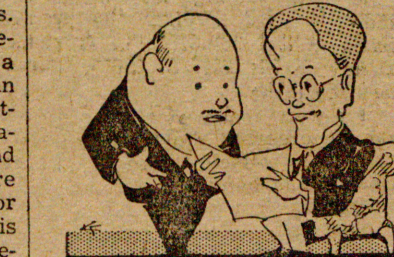

"O, I think so, dear. He's been hanging around the skylight with a club all afternoon."

Cost of Feed

"Why did you go out of the business of raising chickens?"

"I thought I could make more money raising chicken feed."

SCHOOL OF LIFE

"When your son has completed his studies what will he be?"

"Oh, about 73 years of age, I should think."

What a Help!

"Baby has swallowed a bottle of ink."

"Let him swallow a blotter as a chaser."

Off His Chest

"Do you see that fellow over there yelling 'Kill the umpire. Cut his heart out, the bloody robber!'"

"Of course I see him, and hear him, too."

"Well, he's one of the worst hen-pecked men in town. He comes out here every afternoon to let off steam."

Family Trait

"What makes the corn stalk so?"

"Its family is all composed of kernels."

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—as the risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have been more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

LETTERS

Mrs. H. Kruspe, Chair.

Lubbock, Texas
March 23, 1943

Dear Mrs. Kruspe & Legion Aux.:

I sincerely appreciate your wonderful spirit, that you folks at home bestow upon us soldiers in the armed service. If it were not for you folks at home the morale of the soldiers would be really low, but you seem to have some way to keep us pepped up. And those gifts at the holidays are the real thing for a morale builder. For which I must be real grateful and extend to you my sincere appreciation for the Xmas gift and the home news paper which is really appreciated here in the Texas desert. As you know by this time I have been transferred to the Air Corps and they sure make us work. For we have the responsibility of graduating the Aviation Cadet and also keep the ship in the air and really it is a job with those ships out here in Texas, for now we are in the sandstorm season and high winds it sure is tough on the ground crews face and in general it is a rough life. But anything to help win the war and get back home.

I must sign off for this time, in closing I wish to thank you again for the wonderful gift and hope you folks are in the best of health.

As ever,
Gust Zerbs.

Dear Mrs. Kruspe & Legion Aux.:

I received the necktie and identification tag set that you sent to me and I want to say that I appreciate it very much. It is indeed nice to know that the folks do not forget you. I have been fortunate in staying here for several weeks and being able to get home over the week end. Camp life, so far, has been interesting and several of the fellows from town have come thru our office. My stay here is just about up and I expect to be transferred to another camp.

Regards,
Pvt. Clarence E. Creer,

Mrs. Kruspe and Ladies:

I received your very nice gift this past week, and want to thank you all very much. It sure seems nice to get gifts or news from the old home town. It will always remain a mystery to me about the great longing for even the slightest bit of news or recognition from the people back home in Orland. If all the fellows feel as I do you ladies will have a host of servants and willing friends on the completion of this war. I also want to mention my appreciation to whomever is responsible for my getting the Orland Herald. I understand that this is done by the combined efforts of the American Legion and Mr. Semmler of the press.

I wish that if you get the opportunity you will express my thanks to both parties concerned. I know that I rely very much on that hometown newspaper, in fact I found the mail orderly each week until I receive my copy. I am especially fond of the column devoted to letters and news of the servicemen. This column really lets a fellow know where all the old gang is and what they are doing. Through the newspaper I have been able to contact via letters several of the old gang from home. It seems that each week there is a new address of some old friend.

I am still working in the Post Headquarters and find my work very interesting. We penpushers get at least 4 hrs. a week of actual physical drill and all non-commissioned officers must attend schools on field work and training. There is some hope that perhaps some of us may be able to return to a field force and really get some action. At present I have to be satisfied with what I am doing perhaps they will lower the physical standards in the near future and then I will be able to make general service.

I couldn't close without first mentioning a little of California's highly advertised weather. It hardly seems possible to imagine the below zero weather, you folks are having this winter. We had some rain but on the whole it has been very nice, in fact one never needs a coat or jacket after 10 in the morning. The trees and flowers are in full bloom out here already and it seems as tho it is mid summer. I played golf yesterday evening and got quite a sunburn, in fact I am suffering with it today.

Well I will close this letter by thanking you ladies one and all for your kind remembrances all through these long months that I have been away. Please extend my thanks to those responsible for sending me the paper. Excuse the awful typing and the probable spelling errors, I have tried to write this quickly. Let me hear from you in the way of letters also.

Thanks again,

HOUSEHOLDERS ARE WARNED TO FILL COAL BINS BEFORE NEXT WINTER SETS IN

Householders will face the hazard of cold homes and industries the threat of serious interruption of operations unless their coal bins are filled before next winter, warned Dr. M. M. Leighton, Chief of the Illinois State Geological Survey and chairman of the Mineral Industries Committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

"The importance of this matter cannot be overemphasized," stated Dr. Leighton, "and householders as well as representatives of industrial plants must be shown that they will not be acting wisely if they wait until next fall to purchase their winter supply of coal."

"The fact that serious coal shortages did not ensue during this past winter must not mislead the coal-buying public into believing that the same situation will exist this coming winter. The steadily increasing tempo of the war effort has changed the entire situation. By next winter the full facilities of our railroads and coal mines will be required for the war effort. Any delay now on the part of householders in filling their bins and failure by industries to keep at least a sixty day supply of coal on hand, will create a most serious situation. It must be shown to everyone that coal purchases must be made during the spring and summer seasons, when mines are in a position to produce the coal needed."

In the case of the householders Dr. Leighton offers this advice, "In connection with the domestic problem, every householder who has too limited bin capacity should provide, if possible, additional basement storage space. Such additional storage bins should be thoroughly cleaned of combustible rubbish and coal kept away from heated pipes and heated surfaces. Steps should be taken to avoid storing the coal in thickness greater than eight feet. With reasonable precaution there should be no fear of danger of spontaneous combustion."

All local chambers of commerce throughout Illinois have been urged by State Chamber to begin active campaigns in their respective communities on the early stocking and storage of coal supplies.

Homer is rightfully proud of its record past and present, and the name of Lt. Col. Tilsy is one of the many reasons of our rightful pride. A letter from Pvt. Geo. HELP BEING MADE AVAILABLE TO FARMERS

A number of farmers are now securing their help and placing their orders with the various schools in the county and through the Farm Bureau offices and the farm branch of the U. S. Employment Service. Farmers may go to their nearest high school, or either of the above mentioned offices and place their order. It is highly desirable they do so at their earliest convenience.

Again it is announced that a number of 1A men who have had farm experience are being retained on the farm for this season, and to secure such men as they are made available, farmers should have their orders in so the thirty days will not elapse before these men are placed. The reason for freezing farm help is this: there has been a double drain on farms due to more men going to war industries from agriculture than to

Farm Youth of U. S. Looks to Tomorrow

TOMORROW'S farmers and farm homemakers are second to no school group in their enthusiasm for investing in War Bonds and Stamps to make sure their future is secure. Through the Schools At War program they are investing what they save and earn in War Stamps and Bonds.

First evidence of this is the amount the 4-H Club boys and girls and the FFA boys invested in war savings in 1942 from "Victory Pig" and other projects. A million and a half 4-H Club members put $6,000,000 of their own savings in War Bonds and Stamps and sold $2,500,000 worth of War Savings to their neighbors. Nearly a quarter million members of Future Farmers of America invested more than $1,500,000.

Spurred by the realization that the financial welfare of farm families the next 20 years depends on how wisely they use today's higher incomes from increased food and other wartime production, both groups have set their goals still higher for 1943.

These farm youths are building financial reserves, and urging their parents to do the same, for after-the-war necessities, to meet financial emergencies and to help them get started in college.

They're building reserves today for tomorrow's farm buildings and for the other things they will need when they're tomorrow's farmers and homemakers.

Selective Service. However, the rural areas have furnished their same proportion of men in the service as the metropolitan and city areas have along with losing men to industry. It is not a special favor to farms at all except this drain was stopped in the interest of adequate food production this coming year.

It is not generally understood that when men are retained on a farm all essential workers must add up at least to 16 units of production on the farm, and if an essential worker is on a farm where there is not 16 units per man his local selective service board has the authority to direct such men to register with the USDA War Board whose headquarters are in either of the Farm Bureau offices of the county to be placed, or thru the U. S. Employment Service. Such farms may be in Cook County or outside of the county. If a registrant elects to, he may secure a job on a farm where he can earn 16 units by

ESTABLISH BRANCH OFFICE IN CHICAGO FOR POST WAR AUDIT ACCOUNTS

Upon the request of the Secretary of War, the Comptroller General has established in Chicago a branch of the Auditing Division of the General Accounting Office to maintain a current post audit of war department accounts. This is the first decentralized office of this type to be set up during World War No. 2 and will make certain that the correct person gets the correct amount of money according to the law.

To assist in this work the U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced a need for persons to be trained to audit contract, pay, and travel vouchers. Applicants are desired with either some legal training experience or training in accountancy or auditing, or college graduates willing to learn. These positions pay from $2178 to $2420 per year including pay for overtime. Interested persons should apply to the Civil Service Representative at 366 W. Adams St., Chicago.

clearing the same through the channels above mentioned and also reporting the same to his Selective Service Board. Again we wish to caution 1A men if they change farms to report to their board and give evidence they are earning 16 units production on the farms where they are located.

In securing essential man power the tendency is to include the owner operator as a full time man even though he may be incapacitated from doing full physical labor on his farm so long as he is able to act in a managerial capacity. Also younger men under eighteen are given full 16 unit rating and smaller boys, around the age of 12 are given a rating according to the amount of labor they can perform.

Let Us Have Faith

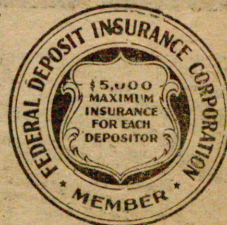

Besides buying War Bonds and Stamps, we here at home have a duty to perform to keep faith with the boys at the front. To keep ourselves financially strong so there'll be jobs and homes for them to come back to—and the kind of a country they're fighting for.

To this end this bank is co-operating with the people of our territory in every way possible. That is our duty, as we understand it.

release a man for other duties." He also outlined the numerous opportunities awaiting women in these two branches of the service. As enlisted personnel they receive the same pay as corresponding grades in the regular Navy. In addition to their pay (up to $126 a month,) WAVES are given $200 worth of uniforms, allowances for dependents, free food, lodging, medical and dental care.

Upon enlistment, WAVES are sent to one of the WAVES training schools where they are taught to become Yeomen, Storekeepers, Parachute Riggers, Radiomen, Aviation Machinist Mates, or one of the many other ratings open to women.

Advancement will depend entirely upon the individual, and with each advancement comes an automatic increase in pay. Many WAVES say that they are saving more money now than they ever did before, and at the same time, they are thrilled to be able to serve their country during this time of need. After the war, WAVES will find themselves situated to hold better positions than the ones they left.

Women between the ages of 20 and 35 inclusive should investigate the WAVES and SPARS at their first opportunity at the office in the City Hall Building. Applicants must be at least 5 feet tall, citizens of the United States, and of good character. The period of enlistment is for the duration of the war plus six months.

Enlistments are now open for men 17 years of age or between the ages of 38 and 50. Men in these age groups may enlist voluntarily for general service or for service in the Navy's construction battalions. Chief Longgren will be glad to answer any questions that interested men may have.

TIPS ON WASHER CARE FROM PUBLIC SERVICE

"How I keep from Growing Old"

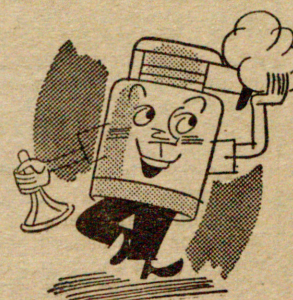

YOU'D never guess my age! But there's only one reason I look so young and work like a brand new washer. That's because my boss gives me special war-time care. She's smart. She knows she can't get a new washer now, so she's making sure I keep working for the duration.

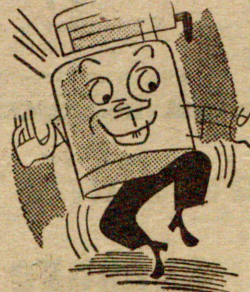

Do as she does—It's very simple to follow my owner's example. The first thing to remember is to clean the washer after using it. Wash, rinse and dry wringer rolls, also release pressure to prevent rubber rolls from flattening.

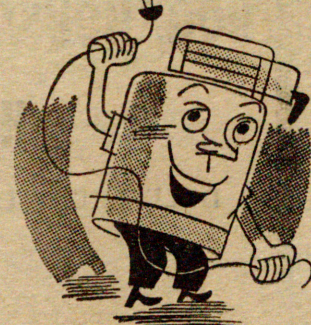

Rub the tub—The tub should also be washed, but not scoured. Use a mild soap with warm water. And after rinsing the tub, use a soft cloth to dry it. Oh yes! and don't forget to remove the agitator and wash under it, too.

Lady, be careful—Don't drop the agitator because it might chip the porcelain. The metal would then rust and eventually result in a leak. You ought to treat the enamel on your washer like you do the fine finish on your furniture.

Save the cord—Be sure to keep the cord off the wet floor, never roll the washer over cord. Remember, too, when moving the machine, that the wringer should be directly over tub. It will prevent the washer from tipping.

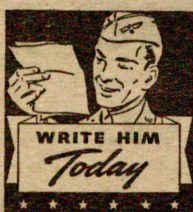

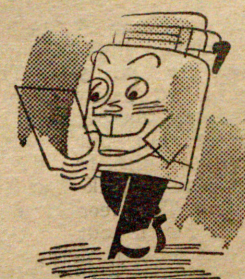

Keep it under cover—When you are finished with the washer, cover it with a cloth to keep it free from dust and dirt. And remember, at the first sign of motor trouble, call an expert repair man. You'll save money in the end.

What about lubrication?

Well, it depends on the make and age of washer. No general instructions cover all types. So I suggest that you follow the manufacturer's instructions for lubricating your washer. If you no longer have these instructions available, see your Electric Appliance dealer... and you'd better see him right soon, if your washer hasn't been lubricated recently.

Your Part in the Meat and Fats Rationing Program

HERE'S HOW YOU SHOP
to get meat...
cheese...butter shortening...and other foods rationed
under this program

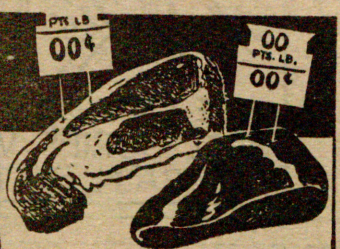

These foods are also rationed by the "point" system. They may be obtained only with the red stamps in War Ration Book Two. You may use the red stamps from all War Ration Books Two issued to your household.

The official point value chart — posted in stores and published in newspapers — will give point values per pound for all these foods. A point value table in ounces is included in this chart.

"A" stamps become valid March 29, and a new row of stamps becomes good each week on Sunday. "B" the second week, "C" the third, and so on. Stamps A, B, C and D will expire April 30.

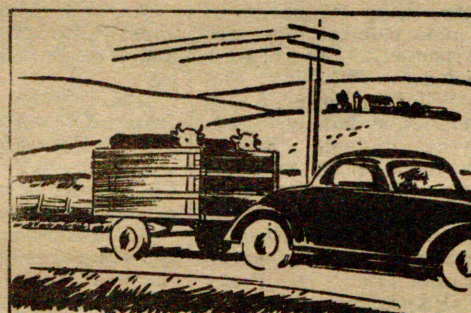

These foods will be given specific point values per pound by the Government. You may obtain any of them with any valid red stamps of the right value. Dealers can give "change" in 1 point red stamps only.

The farmer's position in the Red Stamp rationing program is unique. In all cases, he is a consumer, but he may also be a slaughterer, a wholesaler and a retailer. Each classification and activity is governed by special regulations. You will be expected to know what these regulations are so read carefully the information given below.

FARMERS WHO SLAUGHTER their own livestock for their own consumption, or for storage at home or elsewhere (to be eventually consumed by their own family), do not have to surrender ration stamps. Farmers who purchase rationed foods must give up stamps, just as any other consumer.

FARMERS WHO SELL or barter meat they have slaughtered must first obtain a slaughter permit from their County Agricultural War Board. Permit numbers must appear on all wholesale cuts of meat sold or bartered.

YOU MUST COLLECT STAMPS for all rationed foods sold or bartered. These stamps must be turned in to the local Ration Board with an official report form either by mail or in person.

POINT VALUE CHARTS for both wholesale and retail sales as well as the necessary report forms may be obtained from County Agricultural War Boards. Do not hesitate to call upon your Ration Board or local OPA office for any additional information.

Our fighting men come first!

The following letter was rec'd by us Monday and even the Jerry came home Tuesday, it is still interesting:

Dear Mr. Semmler:

Your paper of a none too recent date, Dec. 18, 1942 to be exact, has just been eagerly read. By the post mark one could tell that the mail man was on the job but I was elsewhere at the time, of not only that one but all of the other deliveries. It seemed mighty fine to see the names and addresses of not only mine, but of the other boys scattered through out the world, that I know and want to wish them GOOD LUCK. I would also like to thank the Women's Auxiliary for the Xmas package I received. Your generous offer to the W. A. thru the paper, certainly made a lot of us feel that we were not forgotten and at the same time brought us a little closer to home at the season of the year when we all like to be together.

Again I say thanks and good luck.

Sincerely

Jerry.

MOKENA BOWLING NEWS

Robinson's Tavern are the champions. Monday night they took two games from the Mokena Oilers while the Mokena Wallpaper trimmed Braun's Recreation for two games. The Robins won the title four games out in front of the 2nd place Smokers while the Oilers ended in 3rd position. The Mokena Bankers dropped the Paperhangers into the cellar when they swamped the tailspinning V-Eighters for three games. Wes Cappel was the important cog in the Banker's Victory. In the Robins vs Oilers games, apparently the pressure was on as the players did not bowl in their usual form and the games were very close although the Robins as champions were able to take two games.

Next Monday night the Mokena Bowling League winds up its bowling season with the first annual sweepstakes.

An appeal for eggs for the Methodist Old Peoples Home in Chicago and the Lake Bluff Orphanage has been received by Mrs. Knox, Secretary of Supplies, for the Methodist church. It has been the custom for several years to send contributions of fresh eggs to these institutions at Easter time. Besides bringing joy to the inmates of these homes, the church receives conference credit for the cash value of all eggs donated. All members or friends of the Methodist church are therefore urged to bring their contribution of eggs to the church on or before Palm Sunday. Cases will be provided to receive them and when full will be sent to these institutions in time for Easter.

The Methodist church has received conference vouchers for $52.00 from the Goodwill Industries for contributions of old clothing, etc. recently made by the folks of the community to that institution.

ORLAND SERVICEMENS COL.

March 30, 1943

Dear Friends:

I just want to write a few lines to say hello, and tell you I'm feeling fine.

I sure miss the old town of Orland and the gang in it.

I'm right in the center of Texas and the weather is very warm during the day and cool at night. But this sure is a dry state, we only had 3 rain days in the four weeks I was down here.

The girls down here aren't near as nice as they are in Orland.

The only kick I have about Texas is that I can't get use to the waster down here.

Yours for ever,
Pvt. Speedy Miller, Co. C,

Canning Goal
For Illinois

The essential wartime home-canning goal for Illinois, exclusive of heavily populated Cook County, totals 3,833,899 quarts for 1943, a leading food distributor estimated today.

This huge job facing the 1,064,972 housewives living outside Cook County represents an average of 100 quarts of home packed food per person, the amount the U. S. Department of Agriculture has recommended for rural families and which it considers desirable also for urban families, explained Harvey A. Baum, vice president of A & P Tea Company's produce buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company. Any housewife who meets this goal will assure each member of her family two cups of home canned food daily for about seven months.

"The need for housewives to meet the goal was emphasized when Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown reported that only 13,000,000 cases of commercially canned fruits and vegetables would be available to civilians each month this year as compared to 30,000,000 cases a month last year," Baum said. This means a reduction of 57 percent, but civilians will get along on it so our armed forces and allies can get the food they need to whip the Axis."

Baum believes many American housewives will fill this gap by purchasing fresh fruits and vegetables for both immediate use and for home canning inasmuch as these perishable foods require no ration points. The War Production Board has promised adequate supplies of covers and rubber rings for home canning.

Beginning in May our company will furnish through its stores up to the minute information as to when the various fruits and vegetables are available in sufficient quantities to warrant canning. It is a patriotic duty this year to can fruits and vegetables in peak production periods to avoid waste.

Farmers Must Know Their Beans

If Illinois farmers are to supply the amount of soybean seed that will be asked of them, they have to "know their beans," says J. C. Hackleman, crops specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Recent tests on several hundred samples indicate that nearly half of the lots are running between 60 to 70 percent germination, Hackleman reported. In order to help locate supplies of seed and encourage farmers to make tests that will enable them to know the quality of their seed just as rapidly as possible, the College of Agriculture is assisting farm advisers in the soybean counties by making tests on samples.

"Farmers are able to test their own beans," he said, "and should do so, for if they are to raise soybeans, they must know the quality of their own bean seed as well as where to get the right seed."

Many farmers who were encouraged by the $2 floor price to hold back good beans in the spring of 1942 were unable to market their beans as seed. Owing to the fear of inadequate storage some marketed their early matured beans as soon as possible in the fall of 1942. Beans of high moisture held until April, 1942, caused some trouble and the September freezes of that year caught many beans in an immature stage.

All these factors caused farmers to be a little wary about storing beans in an immature stage.

At the same time steps were taken to seek the release of additional steel for the manufacture of pressure cookers and home canning equipment.

American People Face Acid Test in Treasury's 2nd War Loan To Raise
13 Billion Dollars in Three WeeksThe Nation Dare Not Fail in This Greatest Financing Task in History—"They Give Their Lives—You Lend Your Money."

Washington, D. C.—Coming as it does upon the heels of income tax payments, the people of America will face an acid test this month when the Treasury's Second War Loan drive opens April 12 with an objective of thirteen billion dollars to be raised through sale of Government securities.

A substantial part of this huge financing, the most stupendous ever undertaken by any government in the world's history, must be loaned by people in ordinary walks of life.

High Government officials have pointed out that the nation must not fail in this duty to our men on the battle fronts who are now carrying the offensive to the enemy at every stage. It is obvious to every thinking man and woman that as the United Nations take this offensive against the dictators, the cost of war operations increases in proportion.

The American people must no longer think of war costs in terms of equipping a soldier, building a tank or plane or a ship. We must now think in terms of the cost of battles, invasions and new offensives. Attacking armies cost more money than equipping that army and we must meet that increased cost by buying more War Bonds and Second War Loan Securities.

They Give Their Lives.

It is not only necessary that the American people left here at home assume this additional participation in the war effort—it is an honor to do so . . . for we here at home can do no less than attempt to approach the sacrifices of our brave men out on the fighting fronts to whom the last great measure of sacrifice is but a daily offering. They give their lives . . . we are asked only to lend our money.

And that is the theme of the Second War Loan, "They Give Their Lives—You Lend Your Money."

Financial experts who know monetary conditions in the nation point out that at the present time there is in liquid funds, cash and commercial bank deposits over and above taxes and present investment in Government Bonds, and over and above what can be bought this year because of restrictions and rationing . . . approximately 40 billions of dollars which should go into Government Bonds.

It should be the objective of every American to invest these loose dollars, idle dollars, in Government securities, not only from a patriotic standpoint, but from the standpoint of their own financial security. There is available during the Second War Loan a type of Security to fit every pocketbook.

Are Wild Dollars

Every dollar of these forty billions of dollars available, which is not invested in Government securities during this War Loan Drive is a "wild" dollar which, together with its mates, will tend to increase inflation. Uncontrolled inflation might raise the cost of living to a point where the dollar is worthless. It can happen. It happened in Germany after the last war when the price of a loaf of bread cost more than an annual wage.

Invested in Government securities, your dollar will work for you. It will hold down inflation because it is harnessed in war work; it will help buy food, transportation, munitions for our boys on the front lines and it will be earning interest that, together with your original loan, will come back to you later to help you buy the things you cannot buy today . . . to insure your peace of the future.

Remember those boys out there . . . in Tunisia . . . in the South Pacific . . . They give their lives—You lend your money.

First Radiotelephoto From African Front

A gun crew digs in and is on the alert during the battle for Gafsa, in Tunisia. U. S. armored forces under command of Lieut. Gen. George Patton Jr. in two days advanced 30 miles to recapture Gafsa and to go 12 miles beyond. Photo was flown to Algiers and transmitted from that point in seven minutes to Washington in the new two-way radio transmission system put to its first practical test by the U. S. army signal corps with the transmission of these radiotelephotos.

Chicago Cubs' Mascot to Be Goat

It's a goat instead of a bear that Manager Jimmie Wilson of the Chicago Cubs (left) will use for a mascot this spring, as his charges play exhibitions in and about their French Lick, Ind., training camp. Manager Jimmie Dykes of the White Sox (right) will have a similar talisman. The goats' names are "Bunt" and "Homer."

Caution—Wrecked Plane Being Repaired

Surprised? So were we to learn that the two seemingly peaceful rural scenes depicted above really masked the repair and restoration to service of a wrecked U. S. air force plane. Members of the service group at Greenville, S. C., are taught to rescue, salvage, and repair wrecked planes in a battle area subject to air and ground attack at any time. At top, plane is covered by a screen which blends it into the disguise and makes it unrecognizable from the air. The "farmhouse" and "silo" in the background actually are engineering installations. Below, a realistic touch is added to the camouflage installations of the service group by these cows.

Their Majesties Pay Visit to Yanks

Their majesties, the king and queen of England, are shown passing a group of American soldiers who are busy playing cards at the American Red Cross club in Northampton, England. The photo was made during their majesties' visit to the club, and here the king seems anxious to give a bit of advice to the Yanks.

Good News

Mrs. Paul D. Brown of Orange, N. J., admires the portrait of her husband, an air corps major. After hearing rumors of his death, Mrs. Brown had cabled for confirmation. The day after, stories were released telling how Major Brown commanded a Flying Fortress which took part in the raid on Vegesack sub plant near Bremen, during which U. S. planes blasted 19 buildings.

Block-Buster

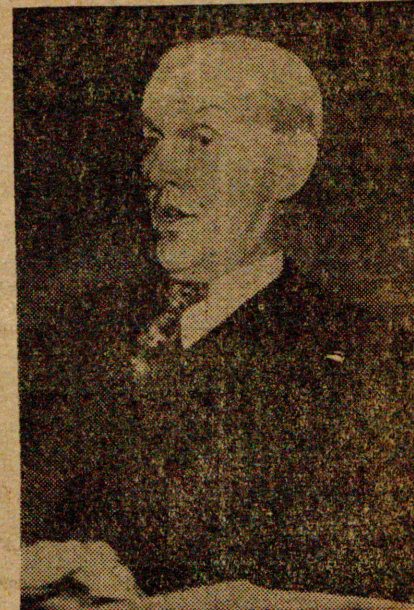

This is a photo-diagram of the dreaded 4,000 pound super-block-buster, made in the United States, and dropped on Germany in night and day raids by American fliers and RAF men. Approximately 2,200 pounds of the two-ton bomb are TNT and other secret explosives. The rest are shell and fuses. Dropped from a plane 20,000 feet up, the bomb strikes the ground at pulverizing 600-mile-an-hour speed.

Personalities on Day's News Front

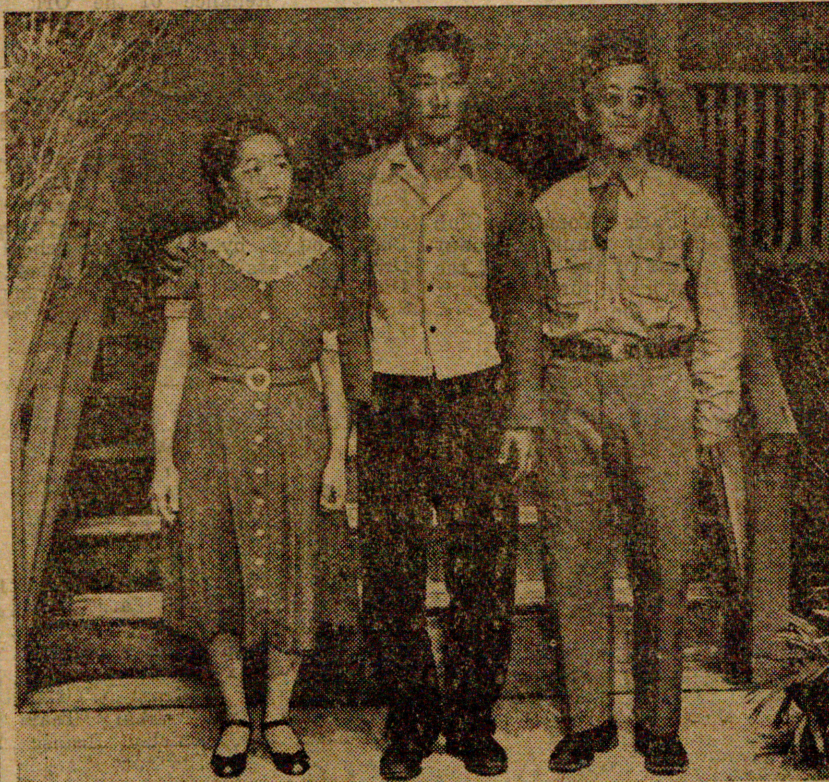

Shown at left is Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., a "native son" of California, who is a crack shot with a pistol. General Patton's armored forces have been giving Gen. Erwin Rommel's desert army in Tunisia something to think about. Center: Petite, attractive Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, first lady of China, who has become the American spokesman for China's fighting masses. Mme. Chiang thrilled great audiences here. Right: J. Lester Perry, president of the Carnegie-Illinois company, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel, shown as he appeared before the Truman committee investigating war production. Charges were made that false tests were made on steel which was being used by the navy.

Teamwork Keynote of Anti-Aircraft Artillery Success

In few branches of our armed services are teamwork and co-ordination more important than in the anti-aircraft artillery. Pictures shown here were taken during maneuvers at Camp Davis, N. C. Upper left: When the alert sounds, anti-aircraft crews must reach their stations in seconds. Dress is of slight importance, but they must have their rifles, cartridge belts, gas masks and helmets. They race to their posts. Right: This picture was made while the 90-mm gun was actually in full recoil. Lower left: Captain Rousseau peers through a slit in the battery commander's underground station to check on the operations of the crew.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Laboratory tests demonstrate that rubber can be made to stretch from 50 to 1000 percent or to have no stretch at all, as in hard rubber.

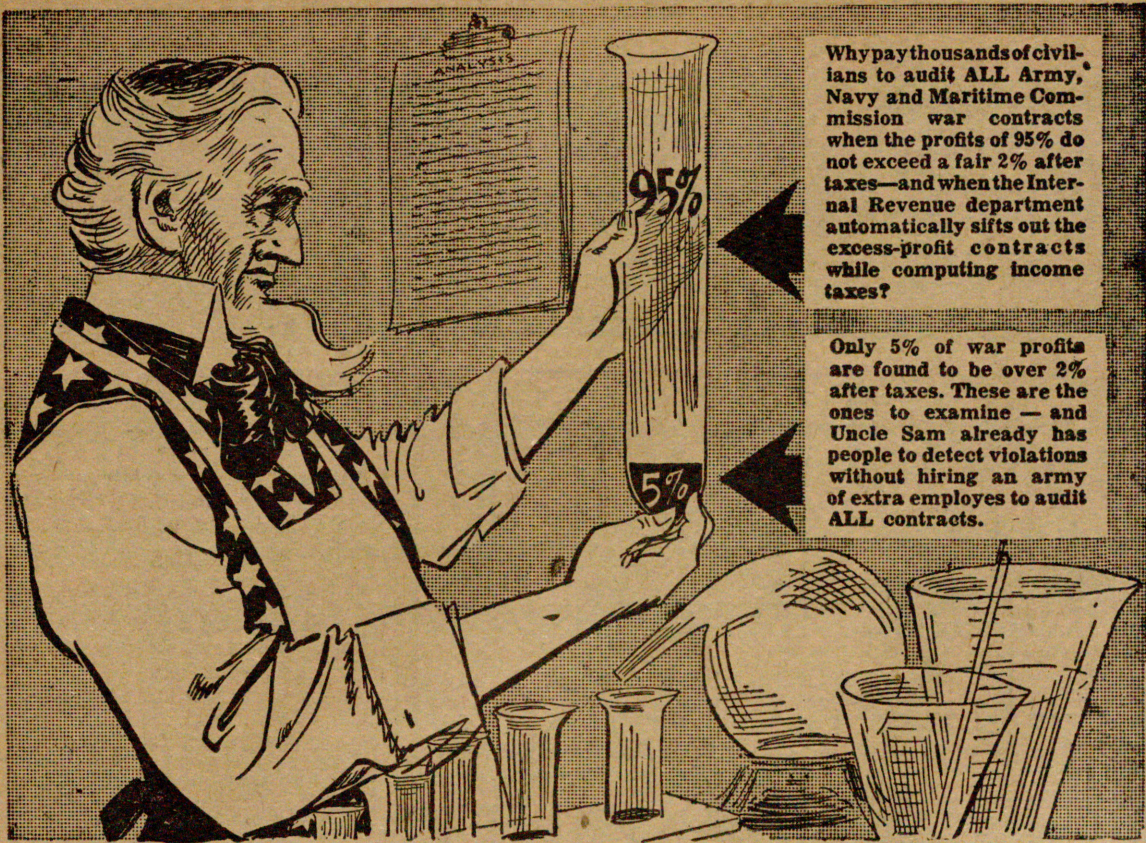

A cubical piece of about half an inch of the substance we now know as rubber was selling for three shillings in London art shops in 1770. It was then called rubber because it could erase pencil marks.

The first articles of rubber to be manufactured were clothing and shoes.

American seamen are now equipped with rubber life-saving suits weighing slightly over 14 pounds. This new buoyant suit features a whistle, flashlight, knife and yellow hood and gloves to attract rescuers. Weighted shoes keep the wearer upright in the water.

Preserve Our Liberty Buy U. S. War Bonds

Why pay thousands of civilians to audit ALL Army, Navy and Maritime Commission war contracts when the profits of 95% do not exceed a fair 2% after taxes—and when the Internal Revenue department automatically sifts out the excess-profit contracts while computing income taxes?

Only 5% of war profits are found to be over 2% after taxes. These are the ones to examine—and Uncle Sam already has people to detect violations without hiring an army of extra employees to audit ALL contracts.

NEED FOR UNITED EFFORT

To win this war we must have unity of effort. "The do-as-I-tell-you-not-as-I-do" attitude will never mobilize national power or bring speedy victory.

This need for united effort was emphasized by the President in his recent call for a 40 per cent reduction in the use of government automobiles. Take the use of tires and gasoline by various federal agencies. A report of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures says:

"Despite the growing automobile crisis, both in tires and gasoline, the investigation of the committee indicates that for the first four months of the present fiscal year the various agencies of the government, exclusive of the Army and Navy, continued for the most part to use as many passenger cars, to drive as many miles, and to consume about as much gasoline as did these agencies in a comparable period of the previous year, notwithstanding the efforts of the government to reduce the consumption of gasoline and conserve rubber.

Same Standard for All

"The committee believes that the same standard of strictly essential driving should be applicable to government employees as now applies to individual citizens."

The committee gives figures upon which its conclusions are based. In the last fiscal year the government owned 17,305 passenger automobiles, exclusive of the Army and Navy and exclusive of trucks and motorcycles. It now owns 18,933 passenger automobiles.

In the last fiscal year the cost of operating these automobiles was $4,243,602. According to the use of the first four months of the present year the cost will be $3,924,069. In the last fiscal year these government-owned cars traveled 203,550,280 miles. According to the first four months of this year, government-owned cars will travel, this fiscal year, 199,830,930 miles and consume 12,853,533 gallons of gasoline.

The report also quotes from a statement of the Director of the Budget, indicating that "until now government cars have had an average of six and one-half tires each." The Committee's finding "that the same standard of strictly essential driving" should apply to government employees as is applied to individual citizens is too downright sensible to require discussion.

Why More Payrollers?

Another example of the need for united effort is found in the problem before Congress as to whether excessive profits on war contracts require new bureaus and additional payrollers or whether the Department of Internal Revenue can do the job.

The average citizen struggling with high taxes and a shortage of manpower answers: If necessary, amend the Internal Revenue Act for this purpose.

To win the war we must spend money and use materials wisely. We have enough manpower to do our essential jobs, but we have neither the manpower nor the taxes to hire special payrollers to do work that can be done better by established agencies.

CRISIS IN MANPOWER

Today's problem of manpower means as much to the farmer with one hired hand, or the merchant with a single clerk, as it does to the industrialist who employs a thousand persons. It is all a matter of proportion.

The war program has reached such a stupendous size that the proper distribution of manpower assumes as much importance as the right use of steel, oil, rubber, or any other essential material or product.

It has been such a short time since there was more manpower than industry and agriculture could absorb that we may be a bit slow in waking up to the fact that today each man and woman who can be used to help in the battle of production is needed, and needed badly.

For the benefit, then, of farmers whose crops and livestock will suffer this year if manpower is not replenished; for the benefit of the armed services which have set their sights at possibly 10 million in uniform before 1944; for the benefit of the factories which must turn out ammunition, shoes, clothing, supplies and processed foods in ever-increasing quantities for fighters, civilians and allied nations, a careful stock-taking of manpower is required.

Where Manpower Is Wasted

Our new Congress must make sure that those in charge of this task, in Washington, cast about to see where able-bodied people are being needlessly employed. And in that city of Washington these authorities are now rubbing elbows with thousands of clerks, auditors, stenographers and others who could be used elsewhere without interfering with the war effort in any measure.

Recent figures showed that there were 2,606,300 persons on the civilian payroll of the federal government. This is not only a million more than were in our armed forces in foreign lands at the time the President made his address at the opening of the present Congress, but it is three times as many as were on the government's civilian payroll during the first World War. Of course this is a bigger war, but that only furnishes an even greater reason why the government should lead in conserving manpower for our farms and factories.

The "Renegotiation" Law A single measure, introduced in Congress last year, would require thousands of new payrollers to carry out its provisions. This was the act providing that the Army, Navy and Maritime commission should each check its war contracts so that renegotiation could be demanded in cases of excessive charges.

The purpose of this legislation—to make sure that the government was not paying too much for its materials and supplies—was not questioned. But the proposed method of rechecking all war contracts called for the hiring of such a large number of new federal employees that amendments to the bill were quickly demanded.

Although the bill has been rewritten and amended, it still places upon the Army, Navy and Maritime commission so much of the responsibility for re-examining their contracts that thousands of new auditors and accountants would be needed. This violates the principle that united war effort calls for the placing of every available man and woman in productive work, at the same time helping to keep the taxpayers' federal load as light as possible, consistent with wartime demands.

An acceptable amendment to this law—not yet adopted—would leave it to the Department of Internal Revenue to uncover instances of excess profit. By using this established checking system, the other departments would not have to hire extra people to wade through the 95 per cent or more of war contracts which are honestly and conscientiously executed.

Here is but one example of how manpower can be conserved in these days when the efforts of all must be directed toward winning the war.

Free Enterprise

These words from a recent advertisement are worth reading twice: "A drum, a little red wagon, a picture book; these are gifts that bring joy to a boy's heart. But you can give him a far greater gift. You can give him the right to live as a free American."

It took Germany nine years to build enough plants and equipment to fight this war; it took Japan 25 years, Russia 20 years. American industry, under free enterprise, has done it in two years.

ABOUT LOSING SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT CARD

"Every time an American worker loses, destroys, or mutilates his social security account card, he is wasting as much money as it costs to provide 13 bullets to an American soldier," Mr. G. A. McCollum said today. He asked that holders of social security cards safeguard them as a wartime conservative measure.

Nearly 2,000,000 duplicate cards were issued by the Social Security Board. They were issued to persons who had lost or destroyed the ones originally given them.

"The money spent for printing, processing, and mailing the 2,000,000 duplicate account cards could have purchased more than 550 jeeps for the Army or 25,000,000 rounds of ammunition," Mr. McCollum said, to illustrate the wastefulness of failure to safeguard the original cards. If taken care of properly, the social security cards will last a lifetime. The following tips were given:

Don't carry your card with you unless you must. Put it in a drawer, safe, or other place where you keep valuable documents. Know where the card is. Before putting it away, place it in an envelope and mark it: 'My social security card.' Then you will be able to find it in a hurry, if necessary.

"If you change jobs frequently, and need to carry your card with you don't just stuff it in a pocket. Try to protect it against loss, wear, or mutilation. Never keep your card in your overall or shirt pockets. Many losses occur because the shirt or the overalls together with the card, are tossed into the laundry tub."

Mr. McCollum also warned against using the card for identification purposes. He said the card is not only valueless for identifying persons, but such use results in wear and tear and shortens the life of the card.
